

ECSA 61 Bridging the gap between science and policy in estuarine and coastal marine biodiversity: the way forward

24–27 August 2026 | Square, Brussels, Belgium

Supporting Publication

About the Conference

Welcome to ECSA's next major symposium, ECSA 61: Using the best scientific knowledge for the sustainable management of estuaries and coastal seas, which will take place from 24 – 27 August 2026 in Brussels.

ECSA 61 will bring together a global multi-disciplinary community of researchers, educators and practitioners to address issues of outstanding importance in the science (both natural and social) and management of estuaries and coastal seas in this rapidly changing world.

Estuaries and coastal seas are facing multiple pressures coming from human activities, which result in habitats and biodiversity loss, introduction of invasive species, input of different types of pollutants (i.e., organic compounds, pharmaceuticals, microplastics, noise, light, etc.), overexploitation of resources and impairment of the marine health status. This in turn compromises the capacity of delivering ecosystem services and human benefits.
